HURRAH FOR THIS OFFER.

COL. KIP, Record, 2:30. Standard, 14,405.

He is the only stallion except Giltz, standing for service in Addison County with a record in the 2:30 list. He won his record in a gang of five horses at Belmont Park, Philadelphia, July 15, 1890, for a purse of $500, which he won in a four heat race, although he was too heavily, but his natural place and speed combined outlasted them all and took him to the front. The next day but one he started in another race at Belmont Park for a purse of $500, in which he won second money. In a gang of eight horses, driving the winner out in 2:26 and took a heat from him and he was close to the winner in this race in the last heat of a gang of eight horses and all of them fast. Although he was too fleshy and not in first-class trotting condition he showed himself game and a trotter in these races. Col. Kip was sired by Aristos, record 2:27 1/2, and his dam Laura, formerly Lady Champion, in turn has trotted in 2:22. For further pedigree see in another ad. in this paper. He is a beautiful seal brown in color; he stands 15 1/2 hands high; weight, about 1100 pounds, and is a sure footed getter; his service is first-class. He will be found at the stable of J. W. PECK, West Cornwall, Vt., for the season of 1891 at the very low sum of $25 to insure in foal. Up to April 15 he had 27 mares booked and his book keeps filling. Anyone finding any misrepresentation in this ad. otherwise than through some technicality, can have the service of Col. Kip free of charge.

The relatives and friends from here attended the funeral of James Fuller of Shoreham on Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Bacon officiated.

Our Knights Templar, members of the Geo. S. Gale post and others will participate in the Memorial-day exercises in Orwell tomorrow. The G. A. R. boys meet at the several cemeteries in town in the afternoon of Friday to decorate the graves of their comrades.

The funeral of A. H. Rice was largely attended from his late residence on Friday at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. N. Bacon officiating. Among those present from abroad were Ashley Hamilton of Manchester, Henry Dunn of White River Junction and C. C. Bixby of Brookton, Mass.

The law suit of Mrs. C. J. Sherbro vs. George Day of Addison, regarding a cow deal, was heard before Justice J. R. Rice on Wednesday. The defendant acknowledged judgment and appealed to the county court. R. C. Goodhue of Addison appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Fish of Vergennes for the defense.

The M. E. society expects to build its new church as soon as a suitable site can be obtained on which to put it. The building committee have conferred with Clinton Smith of Middlebury, who has drawn a satisfactory plan and will, it is said, have the contract. We understand that application will be made to the town for a location in the cemetery a little west of where the new Masonic hall will stand.

"Children's day" will be observed by the Congregational Sunday school on June 14. An elaborate programme has been prepared, the committees appointed and the several parts assigned. Judging from the exercises of last year on "Children's day," the occasion will be an enjoyable one, and especially so for the young. A cordial invitation is extended to all and it is earnestly hoped that the house may be well filled.

While Henry Garvey was loading wool from the upper story of the barn of R. L. Hemenway on Monday, a pair of sheep shears, that had been left in one of the fleeces, struck his left wrist, cutting a deep gash and one of the cords. He consulted Dr. Smith of Middlebury, who dressed the wound. He is unable to use the hand or to open two of the fingers. It is feared (as the cut did not discharge any blood) that blood poison will set in.

A large congregation listened to the memorial discourse delivered by Rev. Mr. Bacon on Sunday, which was very interesting, it being especially noteworthy for the kind feelings it bespoke for the old soldiers that were in the late war for our country. The church was decorated for the occasion. A good number of the "old soldier boys" were present, and wish through your correspondent to tender their heartfelt thanks for the kind expressions they were allowed to hear from the pulpit, and also for the efforts of the choir, whose songs recalled many an adventure and hour of joy while on the battle-field.

C. E. Hanchett and wife went to Shelburn last week, returning Friday.

What has become of the Bristol board of trade? Is it strayed or stolen?

Another cold wave came Tuesday. Gardens are somewhat discouraged.

New recruits are joining Capt. W. C. Duntun post at nearly every meeting.

E. B. Patterson has his house on Church street nearly ready for a tenant.

B. L. Downing has the cellar of his new house on Maple street well under way.

A. J. Averill has the foundations laid for his tenement house on Mountain street.

A. T. Stewart, who went to Kansas some time since, will return soon because of ill health.

Children's day will be observed at the Baptist church with the usual exercises by the children.

Thirty-two veterans attended the memorial service at the Baptist church on Sunday. The sermon was by Rev. B. F. Kellogg.

The Memorial-day programme is as follows: The procession will form at 9 a. m. and march to the cemetery to decorate soldiers' graves; address by H. R. Dorr; return to village; address at 1 p. m. by E. B. Finn of St. Albans.

CORNWALL.

One night last week Mrs. M. B. Williamson was awakened and found some one searching her bureau. Upon her attempting to give the alarm the ruffian sprang upon the bed, put his hand over her mouth and tried to gag her. But she succeeded in arousing the hired man, and as he made his appearance, the villain escaped through the window. The man followed, but did not succeed in catching him.

The Congregational church was filled Sunday morning, when memorial services were held. A most excellent and impressive sermon was preached by the pastor from Deut. xxxii: 7. The singing was very appropriate for the occasion. Specially worthy of mention were a song finely rendered by Miss Drake, and the quartette by Mr. Matthews, Miss Drake and Mr. and Mrs. Wing. The church was tastefully trimmed with evergreens and flowers and draped with the stars and stripes. About forty members of Wm. P. Russell post, G. A. R., attended in a body and at the close of the services marched from the church to the front of the soldiers' monument and dipped their colors.

NEW HAVEN.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. C. Comstock, at the home of Orin Nelson, on Thursday, June 4, at 2 p. m.

Considerable preparations are being made to have Children's day a time of special interest.

Jeremiah Powers is very feeble. Although about the house, he is unable to ride out at all. He is 87 years of age.

Old Mrs. Chapin, who has been very ill, is reported as improving. Her daughter, Mrs. Collins, of Nashua, N. H., came a week or more ago.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Landon and Den, and Mrs. H. R. Barrows are the delegates elected to the Addison county conference held at Orwell this week.

In last Sunday evening's service the pastor gave some thoughts upon the subject on which he is to speak at the meeting at Orwell. "The Sunday evening service; its weakness and cause and how to make it a success."

A village improvement society has been organized with a good committee at its head. Next week Wednesday is the grand field day, when the forces are expected to be on the ground, ready to receive their orders and begin operations.

The church social and reception at the parsonage last Wednesday evening, was largely attended. An ample collation was served. A pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was an art gallery. A fine programme of vocal and instrumental music added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Among the many interesting exercises observed on Arbor day by the Essex Union Free school (N. Y.) was the planting of five maple trees. The first one was dedicated to the memory of Miss Charlotte Hoffnagle, a former teacher there. So we also have many young trees, the precepts of Beeman academy, and is still very pleasantly remembered as instructor and friend.

Archibald Munger was drowned in the Grass river, in Russell, N. Y., about two weeks ago. He was a son of Geo. W. Munger, a resident of Middlebury in early life, and an only brother of Mrs. J. W. Stowe of this place and well known in this vicinity. Mr. Munger was at the time of his death foreman of the Canton Lumber Co. He and several other men were standing on a long pier built out from the shore, watching the starting of a jam of logs, a short distance above them. The logs and water came with such force as to break the pier, throwing all the men into the water. All except Mr. Munger were saved. But the water being swift, and so many logs running, the men on shore could not reach him. His body was found after about ten hours, and carried to his home and family in Colton. Among the many beautiful floral tributes given was a floral log resting on a bed of roses. Mr. Munger was for several years proprietor of the Forest House, and was widely known by sportsmen who frequented the Adirondacks.

ORWELL.

President V. V. Blackmer of the Vermont Beekeepers' association had a reunion and picnic at his residence in Orwell on the 20th inst. About 25 beekeepers and wives of beekeepers assembled in his spacious and orderly home, and partook of a bounteous repast until the inner man was satisfied; jokes were cracked and every one seemed to have a good time, but bee talk was the order of the day. After dinner was over and they had questioned Mr. Blackmer about his various beekeeping appliances to their satisfaction, an informal convention was held and various topics were discussed. Information at this time of the year seems more beneficial than in the winter. The average loss of the beekeepers present for the past winter was reported as being 27 per cent. A good share of the loss was attributable to their consuming more honey than usual and therefore being short of stores. Other things were talked over until late in the afternoon, when all separated for their homes, expressing sympathy for the ones that were not there and feeling well paid for a day spent at this first semi-annual reunion and convention of the Vermont State Beekeepers' association. Long may it live.

SHOREHAM.

Mrs. J. B. Parker had the misfortune to fall on Monday morning and partially dislocate her knee.

The delegates to the conference at Orwell were Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Caswell and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith.

J. K. Fuller died of pneumonia on Saturday afternoon, after a brief illness. The funeral was largely attended Tuesday at 10 a. m. Rev. W. N. Bacon officiated. The interment was at Crown Point, near their former home. Mr. Fuller leaves a wife and two small children, who have the sympathy of their many friends.

WHITING.

Rev. E. A. Herring of Brandon is expected to preach at the Baptist church on Sunday, May 31, exchanging with the pastor of the Whiting church.

WEYBRIDGE.

Wilfred Genet is making extensive repairs on his residence.

M. N. Baker has rented the shop on Rock Island and will use it for painting, etc.

G. W. Cobb has purchased the old red store building and will convert it into a barn, making it an annex to the one he has already.

Quite a number of the Epworth League people attended the gathering at Vergennes on Friday, May 15. They report a fine time.

Miss Minnie Samson has been obliged from failing health to rest from her labors at Mrs. S. Dodge's in Middlebury for a time and is at her home here.

Dexter Mitchell of St. Albans recently visited friends here. H. A. Boies has gone to St. Albans to work at the wheelwright business for Mr. Mitchell for a few weeks and possibly for the season.

The usual observance of Memorial day will be held here. The decoration of graves will begin at 12 m., and the address will be at 1 p. m. by C. T. S. Pierce of Vergennes. The exercises will be under the direction of Post Samson, G. A. R.

The officers of M. E. Sunday school for the ensuing conference year are: superintendent, Rev. J. L. Fort; assistant, Miss Nellie Stow; secretary, John P. Brittle; organist, Miss Cora Stow; assistant organist, Miss Cora Stow; treasurer, N. C. Parkill; librarian, Chas. M. Baker.

A son was born to Mrs. Fred Collette of Ferrisburgh on Sunday. Her husband was murdered August 31, last, by being shot in the head while standing beside his wife in their kitchen, in the evening, by some person shooting through the window. Alphonse Chaquette, an unsuccessful suitor, was arrested, charged with the crime, and is to be tried at the June term of the county court at Middlebury.

Mrs. Eleanor F. Bradbury, wife of the late Capt. Charles W. Bradbury, died in this city the 22d. Funeral services were held on Sunday at 3 p. m., Rev. E. B. Taylor officiating. She leaves three sons, Lieut. C. A. Bradbury of the U. S. ship Yorktown, now at Norfolk, Va.; George W. and William C. of Boston, and also two daughters, Fanny, wife of D. H. Lewis, and Miss Ella Bradbury, who has resided at home. The members of the family were present at the funeral and a large number of friends and acquaintances.

—Quicker than anything else on earth, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will reduce inflammation.

For several years past a gentleman in Nashua, N. H., has been in the habit of taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla to tone up his system preparatory to the heated term. He finds that this medicine relieves the tired feeling so prevalent during spring and early summer.
